

Fathers' Rights Attorney Jeffrey Leving & Rev. Walter Jones Build Bridges and Stronger Communities at Responsible Fatherhood Forum

CHICAGO, April 20 -- Fathers' rights attorney Jeffrey Leving and Rev. Walter Jones build bridges for stronger communities at the Responsible Fatherhood Forum Friday, April 23, 2010 hosted by the Family Bridges, Meier Clinics Foundation. Community leaders, social workers, educators, psychologists and clergy will gain an in-depth understanding as Leving and Jones drive home their powerful message and passion for strengthening families and the importance of building strong family bonds.

"Father-child interaction has been shown to promote a child's physical well-being, perceptual abilities, and competency for relatedness with others, even at a young age," acknowledged Leving.

Event Information: TIME: 8:00am - 3:00pm Friday, April 23, 2010 Family Bridges Community Forum
The Salvation Army Red Shield Center, 945 W. 69th Street, Chicago, IL 60621

Leving is a revered father's advocate bringing more than 30 years' experience to the mission. He has dedicated his life to reuniting families as well as effectuating legal and social reform.

Jeffery Leving is an expert resource on responsible fatherhood. For more information about this event, contact Jenny Brandhorst at 312-479-7246.

About Jeffrey M. Leving

Jeffery M. Leving is a nationally renowned matrimonial attorney and is the founder of dadsrights.com. On August 5, 2009, Leving was selected as an expert resource for the White House Roundtable & Town Hall Meeting on Responsible Fatherhood.